IN THE U.S. SUPREME COURT

CASES DECIDED
OCTOBER 1992 TERM

A. Capital Cases

Richmond v. Lewis, 506 U.S. ____ , 121 L.Ed.2d 411, 113 S.Ct. ____ (December 1, 1992). Improper weighing of constitutionally vague "heinous, atrocious or cruel" aggravating factor in Arizona capital sentencing held not cured by state appellate review, where concurring state judges did not reweigh remaining valid aggravating factors against the mitigating circumstances.

Dobbs v. Zant, No. 92-5579, 1993 WL 6892 (January 13, 1993) (per curiam). Court of Appeals erred in not considering full sentencing transcript in determination of whether counsel rendered ineffective assistance, where closing argument at penalty phase was discovered after initial decision finding effective assistance of counsel and flatly contradicted counsel's assertions in key respects.

CASES TO BE DECIDED
OCTOBER 1992 TERM

A. Capital Cases

Godinez v. Moran, No. 92-725, 52 Cr. L. Rptr. 3101. Question presented: Whether federal courts can require a heightened standard of mental competency when state criminal defendant enters plea of guilty and waives counsel.

Graham v. Collins, No. 91-7580, 52 Cr. L. Rpr. 3029. Questions presented: (1) May state limit capital sentencing jury's consideration of 17-year-old defendant's youth, recognized repeatedly by this court as powerful mitigating factor, to answering whether he acted "deliberately" and might be dangerous in future, and afford no other basis for taking youth into account? (2) May state similarly limit jury's consideration of such defendant's positive character and unfortunate circumstances of his family's background? [Argued 10/14/92]

Herrera v. Collins, No. 91-7328, 112 S. Ct. 1074, 117 L. Ed.2d 279, 60 USLW 3577 Questions presented: (1) Does it violate Eighth and Fourteenth Amendments to execute a person who has been convicted of murder but who is innocent? (2) If so, must state courts provide meaningful mechanism for hearing claims of actual innocence in federal court for adjudicating claims of actual innocence in death penalty cases? [Argued 10/6/92]

Arave v. Creech, No. 91-1160, 52 Cr. L. Rpr. 3026. Question presented: Is Idaho's statutory aggravating factor that authorizes death penalty for murderers committed with utter disregard for human life constitutionally vague because limiting construction announced by Idaho Supreme Court does not require that factor be denied with reference to occurrence of specifically defined acts?

Lockhart v. Fretwell, No. 91-1393, 52 Cr. L. Rpr. 3027. Question presented: Did court below err in concluding that habeas petitioner was denied his Sixth and Fourteenth Amendment right to effective assistance of counsel at sentencing phase of his capital-felony murder trial, on ground that he suffered prejudice when his trial counsel failed to make "double-counting" objection, based on Collins v. Lockhart, to trial court's submission to jury of pecuniary gain aggravating circumstance, in light of claim that Collins was contrary to opinion of this Court in Jurek v. Texas? [Argued 11/3/92]

B. Non-Capital

Wisconsin v. Mitchell, No. 92-515, 52 Cr. L. Rptr. 3101. Question presented: Whether First Amendment prohibits states from providing greater maximum penalties for crimes if fact-finder determines that a criminal offender intentionally selected his or her crime victim because of the victim's race, color, religion, or other specified status.

Gilmore v. Taylor, No. 91-1738, 52 Cr. L. Rptr. 3001. Court below held that rule announced in Falconer v. Lane, 905 F.2d 1129 (7th Cir. 1990) -- Illinois pattern jury charge concerning murder and manslaughter violated due process since potentially misled jury about allocution of burden of proving or disproving factor that reduces murder to manslaughter -- is not new rule for Teague purposes, but was instead dictated by Boyd v. California, 494 U.S. 370 (1990). Question presented: Whether court below erred by holding that existing precedent "dictated" Falconer's holding under Teague v. Lane.

Brech v. Abrahamson, No. 91-7358, 52 Cr. L. Rpr. 3029. Question presented: When considering violations of Doyle v. Ohio, 426 U.S. 610 (1976), in federal habeas corpus proceedings, is it consistent with constitutional due process and Sixth Amendment right to trial by jury to abandon standard of review of whether constitutional error was harmless beyond a reasonable doubt and substitute standard of whether error substantially affected the course of trial?

Withrow v. Williams, No. 91-1030, 52 Cr. L. Rpr. 3026. Questions presented: (1) Do federal courts on habeas corpus review of state court convictions have jurisdiction to find habeas petitioner's statement involuntary, in case in which sole Fifth Amendment issue raised in state court, and in habeas petition, was whether statement was admitted in violation of prophylactic Miranda rules, state court having found that petitioner was not in custody? (2) In case in which premise of Fifth Amendment ruling is finding of Miranda violation, and petitioner has had one full and fair opportunity to raise Miranda claim in state court, should collateral review of same claim on habeas corpus petition be precluded? (3) If collateral review is available in such case, is confession following warnings involuntary merely because police indicate possibility of lenient treatment if accused tells truth, and would adoption of such rule on habeas corpus violate principles of Sawyer v. Smith, 111 L.Ed.2d. 193 (1990), and Teague v. Lane, 489 U.S. 288 (1989) ? [Argued 11/3/92]

Sullivan v. Louisiana, No. 92-5129, 52 Cr. L. Rpr. 3046. Question presented: Is a reasonable doubt instruction, which is constitutionally deficient under Cage v. Louisiana 111 S.Ct. 328 (1990) subject to harmless error analysis?

- + Sentenced to death in the state where listed, but incarcerated under death sentence or under term sentence in another state

Twenty defendants, sentenced to death in the state where listed, but incarcerated under sentence in another state, appear with a "+" next to their names.

Eight defendants are under sentence of death in two states; two are under sentence of death in three states; and ten are serving term sentences previously imposed in other states or have been extradited and are awaiting sentencing elsewhere.

While all multiple death-sentenced inmates are listed in their respective state totals, each is counted once at the national level.

Reversals []: One hundred and ninety three defendants who are awaiting a new sentence proceeding following a court order, or whose court ordered conviction or sentence reversal is not yet final due to an appeal filed by the state.

Juveniles # - Thirty four males were under the age of eighteen at the time the offense occurred.
